Don't Let Hazardous Material Mishandling Leave Your Facility Awash in Red Ink

Adopting Sentry's recommended procedures can help you reduce your hazardous material exposures.

Sentry is a leading provider of insurance and safety services for the metalworking industry. Put our expertise to work for you. Sentry's experienced safety professionals recommend that metalworking customers adopt specific prevention procedures covering:

- Hazard communication programs
- Hazardous materials inventorying
- Job-specific training
- Personal Protective Equipment assessments
- Welding, cutting and finishing

These recommendations, designed to help you reduce your claims, are detailed in Sentry Solutions – The Guide to Hazardous Materials Safety for Metalworkers.

With Sentry's help, you'll spend less time worrying about hazardous material mishandling and more time focusing on running your business successfully.

Visit us at sentry.com for more information on reducing risks associated with your business.

Claim File

A metalworking employee who operated machinery using coolants and machine oils did not wear appropriate hand protection. Over time, the employee developed a rash on his hands that spread to his arms, neck and face. Dermatitis was diagnosed, with unsightly scarring. Medical bills, lost time and indemnity payments cost more than $50,000.
