Claim File

A manufacturer successfully tested a portion of 500 fire suppression sensors produced from customer design specs. Testing records were maintained for only one year. Three years later, the manufacturer faced a multi-million dollar lawsuit following a large warehouse fire. The lack of quality control records severely hampered the manufacturer's defense.

Products and safety services are underwritten, issued and/or administered by a member of the Sentry Insurance Group, Stevens Point, WI. For a complete listing of companies, visit sentry.com.
